FOREST BAPTIST CHURCH

About the Family

God's sovereign hand led me to faith at the age of 19. Mentors in college shaped my perspective about how to live out my faith. I saw God's heart for the nations while studying abroad for a semester in Italy, ministering to the diverse college population in Boston, and visiting the villages of Papua New Guinea.

I graduated from college in 2015 with a bachelor's degree in information technology and graduated with a Master of Arts in Missiology from Southern Baptist Theological Seminary (SBTS) in 2017.

While taking classes at SBTS in Louisville, Ky., I joined an African American church. I am now on staff as the director of community engagement at the church and living in a community where people from many nations are residing. It is amazing to see how God has equipped me for this season of life. I am still learning and growing each day.

About My Ministry

My main role is to equip church members and mobilize them to make disciples in the community. The main way to help mobilize church members is finding where God is moving and creating ministries to meet practical needs in the community.

In addition to this, I spend a lot of my time personally discipling people of various backgrounds. My desire is to live life alongside people and to motivate them to take their faith seriously. It is very humbling to know that God uses us to take part in His great mission to make disciples of all nations.
