About the Family

I was raised in Papua New Guinea and attended Florida State University for my undergrad. I later moved to Hawai'i to pursue my master's degree at the University of Hawai'i, where I met my wife, Alyssia. Alyssia was born and raised on Maui, Hawai'i, and attended the University of Hawai'i (UH) Mānoa for her undergrad. We both live on the island of O'ahu and serve full-time as campus missionaries at the University of Hawai'i Mānoa.

About My Ministry

Alyssia and I currently serve on staff as campus missionaries at O'ahu Baptist Collegiate Ministries (BCM), which primarily aims to reach students at the University of Hawai'i (UH) at Mānoa and other nearby universities. Their vision statement is "to engage college students with the gospel, to develop disciples of Jesus Christ, and to mobilize servant leaders for the Church in order to reach the world. We strive to partner with local churches to advance God's kingdom on every college campus in Hawai'i and the regions inside of Hawai'i-Pacific Baptist Convention."

I also serve on the International Ministries (IM) side of BCM, which aims to reach international students with the gospel and to mobilize them as missionaries back to their home countries.
