About the Family

My husband and I came to Montreal in 2023 for his master’s degree. We met at Columbia International University, where we were both pursuing degrees in biblical studies. Before meeting, we both felt called to missions. Although we didn’t know exactly what this calling would look like, we trusted that God would reveal it to us as we followed Him.

After moving to Canada, God showed us the need for the gospel in Montreal. While taking full-time government French classes here, I got to meet people from the many different cultures that call Montreal home. It was clear that the good news of the gospel is something that most of them have neither heard nor understood before.

About My Church Plant

The vision of Voyage Church Montreal is to spread the gospel message of salvation through the sacrifice of Jesus. The church has a calling to focus on three specific areas: to directly disciple believers so that everyone can realize the transformation God desires of us, to actively reach out and be present in our community to showcase the love of God through our actions, and finally to be a church where the power of God is experienced through the gift of prayer.

As a church plant team member, I have the exciting opportunity to disciple women in the church and support the everyday operations of the church.

I will also be partnering with a local team to build relationships and share the gospel with Muslim immigrants in the city.
