LIVING STONE COMMUNITY CHURCH

About the Family

I was born in New York to a military family and moved around quite a bit before settling in Virginia. I met my wife in 2004, and we married in 2007. We have one beautiful daughter, Megan, born in 2014. I graduated from Liberty University with my Master of Divinity (M.Div.) degree in 2017 and completed my Clinical Pastoral Education (CPE) residency that same year.

God blessed me with the opportunity of doing prison ministry in Arizona. When not working, I enjoy listening to audio books while walking, playing chess, working with my local church plant ( Living Stone) and spending time with my family.

About My Ministry

I serve as a full-time corrections chaplain. I am also currently on a good diet and am in the very early stages of getting back into the Army Reserve as a military chaplain. I also believe God has called me to serve those who are in difficult places with limited access to spiritual resources, particularly those who are at risk for trauma.

I completed my Master of Divinity degree at Liberty University while serving as a chaplain candidate in the Texas Army National Guard.
