CITY VIEW CHURCH

About the Family

My wife, Danielle, and I have been married for 11 years. We have two kids, Kate (7) and Brady (5). I am originally from Alabama, and Danielle is from Arizona. We met in college at the University of Mobile where I played baseball, and she played soccer. We spent the first nine years of our marriage in Alabama before transitioning into a church planting residency at Long Hollow Baptist Church in Nashville. During our time in Alabama, I managed a business full-time, helped lead a non-profit missions ministry, and served as student pastor at my home church. Danielle taught physical education and coached volleyball and soccer.

We are excited to live and serve in Atlanta. Our family has transitioned into the city well. We look forward to building community and laying a foundation for years to come. Our goal is to live as a family on mission.

About My Church Plant

Our goal is to establish a missional church on Atlanta's west side that becomes a catalyst for disciple-making. We desire to see every follower of Christ participate in the Great Commission. Our hope is to push back against the lostness in the city of Atlanta as well as combat the cultural Christianity that is ever-present in the South.

We want to build a church with strong theological foundations and a highly relational culture that helps people live intentionally on mission in everyday life. We want to use hospitality evangelism, gospel neighboring, and community investment as a way to reach Atlanta. Our goal is to be a disciple-making, kingdom-minded, local church that sends people from our neighbors to the nations.
