His gifts are in the areas of vision and leadership, equipping and motivating. He holds bachelor's and master's degrees in theology, a master's in business and is currently completing his doctoral studies in theology.

Emanuel and Ioana have been happily married and serving for more than 15 years. They have been blessed with two wonderful children. About My Church Plant Maranatha Baptist Church is a truly multiethnic church that strives to fulfill God's mandate to be "a house of prayer for all nations" (Isaiah 56:7). Maranatha is located in Queens, N.Y., where it is literally in the middle of all nations. There are more than 100,000 people packed within a one-mile radius of our location with about 40% of our neighborhood being foreign-born. All need the gospel.

Having a background as a Romanian ethnic church, Maranatha set out to replant and develop a ministry model that serves the community intentionally and comprehensively in multiple languages, according to the people groups represented in the neighborhood. Currently, Maranatha Baptist Church serves in English, Albanian, Polish and Romanian, bringing all nations together under one church ministry. It is a true house of worship for all nations.
