KAIROS CHURCH SARASOTA

About the Family

I was born and raised in Ukraine and later moved to the United States, where God shaped my life through both challenges and blessings. Through ordinary faithfulness, difficult seasons, and deep Christian community, the Lord clarified His call on my life. I enjoy the outdoors, meaningful conversations, and seeing how the gospel transforms everyday moments.

I am married to my wife, Tanya, and together we are raising four children—two boys and two girls. Our family recently moved to Florida, where we planted Kairos Church. We desire our home to be a place where Christ is honored, hospitality is practiced, and people feel genuinely welcomed. Whether serving together in the church, sharing meals with neighbors, or teaching our children to follow Jesus, our aim is to live as a family on mission, reflecting God's grace in everyday life.

About My Church Plant

God began stirring my heart for ministry many years ago, but through seasons of struggle, prayer, and grace, I clearly sensed His call to preach the gospel and shepherd His people. That calling has taken shape in the planting of Kairos Church Sarasota.

Kairos Church exists to reach people who feel far from God and those who once loved the Lord but have lost their zeal, foundation, or sense of belonging in the church. Many we reach are second-generation Christians, spiritually weary believers, or unbelievers who never felt like church was for them. Over the past nine months, what began with a few families has grown into a church family of 46 members, with six people recently baptized. Our prayer is to see gospel renewal in our city and raise disciples who live boldly for Christ.

PRAY.
Many people search for hope, and the only lasting hope is found in the gospel of Jesus Christ. As Kairos Church continues to grow, the pastoral needs of teaching, discipling, and caring for people continue to increase. While God has faithfully provided through bivocational work, we are prayerfully seeking partners who will walk with us through prayer and financial support as we work toward sustainability.

Please pray for:
- Wisdom, endurance, and spiritual protection for our family
- Continued gospel fruit and transformed lives in Sarasota
- Faithful discipleship and healthy leadership development
- Monthly financial partners to help stabilize the work

PARTICIPATE
You can partner with us by praying regularly for our family and Kairos Church, supporting the work financially through one-time or monthly giving, and sharing our story with others who have a heart for church planting. Every prayer, gift, and word of encouragement helps strengthen and sustain this gospel work.

PROVIDE
