THREE NAILS RECOVERY CHURCH

About the Family

I'm originally from Buffalo, Wyoming, where I grew up in the church. After negative life situations and circumstances caused me to doubt my faith, I spent almost 20 years wayward. In the fall of 2020, I came back to Christ, rededicating my life to him and being baptized with my family.

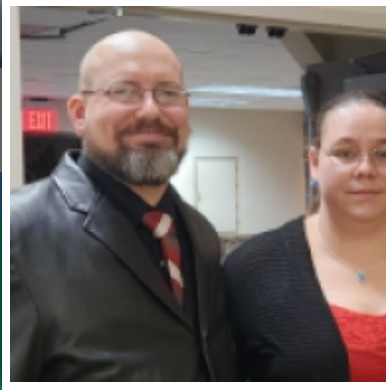

I'm a world-traveled, spending my time in the United States Army, and a life-experienced survivor of trauma and abuse, and drug and alcohol addiction. I started preaching and teaching in both recovery ministries and traditional churches in 2021, was ordained for pastoral ministry in 2024, and graduated with my first diploma from Gateway Seminary in 2025.

I'm extremely blessed to be the husband of a caring and godly woman, Christina, and the father of our daughter, Cristal, and our son, Daniel.

About My Church Plant

Three Nails Recovery Church is a gospel-based, Christ-focused body of believers who have a passion and focus for recovery from all of life's addictions, bad habits, negative coping skills, and tendencies to do the wrong thing, which are all symptoms of a much bigger root cause, which is sin. We know that the only true way to find real recovery is through the blood and sacrifice of Jesus Christ and the path of sanctification, which we refer to as recovery.

Our mission is to bring the message of true recovery through Jesus Christ to the communities and neighborhoods in which we live by providing a safe house of worship where we can share our testimony about Jesus Christ's redemptive work in our lives, and a place we can work out from, to bring the message of the gospel to those still struggling with life's downfalls.
