GLOBAL MISSION NEPALI COMMUNITY CHURCH

About the Family

My husband and I are way past the age of retirement, but I don't think one ever retires from kingdom work! Our primary residence is in Greenville, S.C., but we also live and work in Sunnyside, Queens, New York City. We travel back and forth a lot. Our adult daughter lives close by in South Carolina.

My husband works remotely with his consulting business. He is not the typical missionary. He is a businessman and helps churches and local leaders with the financial side of ministry.

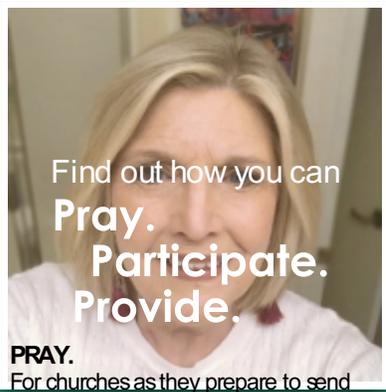

I have a pastoral counseling degree and still practice online part-time with women from South Carolina. When in New York City, I love teaching children who have never heard the gospel of Jesus Christ. They are amazed at what He did. I enjoy working with and learning about the the diverse cultures in the area of Queens.

About My Church Plant

Our primary church is the Nepali speaking Global Mission Nepali Community Church in Woodside, Queens. I work primarily with immigrants from South Asia, although I strive to encourage all the ministries in this part of western Queens. I help with the women's and children's ministries. Online, I teach an English as a Second Language class and also hold English conversation practice sessions for international students.

I work to build friendships with women who are not Christian or who are new Christians. I want to be salt and light in their lives.

PROVIDE

Many missionaries build a team to join their ministry in prayer, participation, and provision. These friends, family and churches support missionaries beyond the tithes and offerings given within the church plant. Visit sendnetwork.com/PlanterFunding for NAMB's policy on providing for church plants.
