

Kyle and Amanda Eiffes

CHRIST FAMILY CHURCH MIAMI

About the Family

Hi there! We're Kyle and Amanda Eiffes, newlyweds uprooting from the Northeast to do college ministry in Miami, Florida. We met as freshmen in high school, and, over the course of the next seven years, God took our very sinful, broken relationship, and redeemed it to be glorifying to Him and His kingdom.

Having both recently finished college, we know what it's like to try to live God-honoring lives in secular, sin-celebrating environments, surrounded by young people who are trying to figure out how to live meaningful lives. At times, it was hard to believe that God could be present in places so seemingly dark. But having lived through our college years and witnessed God's faithfulness in them, we know and believe that He has good things planned for the students at the University of Miami who so desperately need Him.

About My Ministry

Our daily reality at the University of Miami will consist of spending quality time with students, as we take on mentorship roles by guiding students in their understanding of how to know, be with and honor God. Daily, we will each meet with students to read the Bible with them, pray and develop relationships. Weekly, we will lead Bible studies for men and women, and host a phone-free dinner in our home to kick off the beginning of the Sabbath day, which is our day of rest. We will also host a table at events and do outreach on campus, as well as transport students to and from our local church on Sundays. Most of all, we will find ways to do life with college students, using our home as our ministry and creating spaces for meaningful conversations that point students to Christ.
