IMAGO DEI CHURCH

About the Family

My name is Maggie Mann. I was born and raised in Birmingham, Alabama, and after graduating from Mississippi College, I moved to Wake Forest, North Carolina, to pursue my master's degree in women's ministry at Southeastern Baptist Theological Seminary. During my time there, I joined Imago Dei Church, where I now have the privilege of serving as a collegiate missionary.

College was a turning point in my walk with Christ; I had to decide for myself who I would follow. College is such a pivotal time in the lives of students as they have to decide for themselves who and what they are going to follow. College students are uniquely reachable with and excited about the gospel, and I am excited to walk alongside students in the Triangle Area as they prayerfully follow Christ and seek to understand and serve Him with their lives.

About My Ministry

The Triangle Area of North Carolina has more than 55,000 college students at more than nine colleges and universities. Imago Dei Church College Ministry seeks to engage and equip college students throughout the Triangle Area with the gospel of Jesus Christ.

Students are coming to the Triangle Area from all over the world, and we are praying that we can engage them with the truth of the gospel and bring them into the church family where they can be equipped through discipleship to go back out into the world to live in the light of that truth and seek to glorify God in whatever area of the world He has them in.

I will be going out to the campuses, leading Bible studies, doing discipleship and living life alongside the college students in the Triangle Area.

PRAY.

Please join me in praying for the hearts of the college students as we go out onto the campuses. Pray for soft hearts and ears that will listen to the truth. Pray for wisdom for our team as we discern where the Lord is directing us to go in the Triangle Area. Pray the Lord will uphold our team and strengthen us for the work He has called us to do. Please pray for humility and unity among our team as we seek to work together for the cause of Christ. Pray that in all we do, we will seek to glorify the Lord and make His name known among the colleges in the Triangle Area and beyond.
