THE FOUNDRY

About the Family

I am a single guy living near the great city of Philadelphia, Pa. I moved up here 10 years ago from Greenville, S.C., to pursue an M.Div. at Palmer Theological Seminary.

I have been on the mission field and have served as a semester missionary, collegiate minister, church planting intern, church planter apprentice and, possibly, a church planter. I am bivocational, working as a driver for special needs people.

I am an artistic individual and consider myself to be an actor, photographer, director and writer. I also dabble in painting.

About My Ministry

I am currently serving as the associate pastor at the Foundry Church in Wallingford. I am overseeing the arts program called Studio 4:10. The goal of this ministry is to promote the gospel of Christ through excellence in the arts.

We are currently offering "Open Mic Nights," art classes, drama/improvisation classes and several big events, including a film festival and a semi-annual art show. My goal is to form some traveling troupes and to continue to reach artists and to encourage artists to use their gifts to reach others for Christ.

In conjunction with, this I am continually reaching out to the five colleges and universities surrounding our church and am developing a discipling program to grow disciple makers.
