NEW INSPIRATION CHURCH

About the Family

Olusegun (Olu) and Buky have been married since December 2005. They are blessed with two daughters, Tife and Eri.

Olu loves spending time with his family and friends, discipling people, making music, meeting new people, reading theology and learning. He is a visual artist, multi-talented musician, singer and songwriter. Before the call to plant New Inspiration Church, he served as a worship pastor, youth pastor and led other ministry initiatives. Olu's greatest aspiration is to please God.

About My Church Plant

New Inspiration Church has a mission to help people connect and have a growing relationship with God. While the church is focused on reaching the growing population of internationals from African nations, it is also committed to reaching all people as we serve our neighbors.

The church's key strategy is to be the face and the hands of Jesus to immigrants as they navigate the challenges of integrating into New England society. New Inspiration Church is devoted to raising leaders and planting churches in New England.
