About the Family

I am from Nigeria and am married to Jummai Nache. We are blessed with four children. I accepted Christ in Sunday School and was disciplined by the church. I became committed to sharing the gospel with unbelievers around me, especially Muslims who were our primary neighbors. I went to seminary in Nigeria. Before graduation, I planted two churches and started a Christian ministry called HAS Mission International. The ministry is involved in training churches in Muslim evangelism, resettlement of converts and skills acquisition.

In 2010, God opened the door for us to study in the United States. After graduation in 2014, the Lord opened the door for a ministry through the North American Mission Board for me to serve as a missionary/church planter in Minnesota, where I'm presently serving.

About My Church Plant

My wife, our four daughters and I serve in Minneapolis. We have planted two churches in the Twin Cities. Hope of Nation Gospel Church is predominantly South Sudanese with a few other nationals. The second church is Hope of Nations Fellowship Church whose members are from northern Nigeria. I preach in two churches every Sunday. We do have combined services when we have special occasions like Easter, Christmas and baptism services.

We are also engaged in Muslim and prayer ministries where we train churches in reaching out to the Muslims. We have been reaching out to the Somalis and other people groups with the gospel. We have developed many relationships with many Somalis, some of whom I met in the shopping mall, at Halal stores, Walmart and the gym. Despite challenges, we are trusting the Lord complete His work in their lives.
