About the Family

I am a born and raised Texas girl from Houston; however, I've spent the past 10 years of my life in the great city of New Orleans! I was saved by Christ at a young age, baptized at 25, and I'm currently serving as a member at Saint Rose Community Church. Praise the Lord!

In 2017, I graduated from Tulane University, where I played beach and indoor volleyball. In 2018, God brought me back to Tulane to coach volleyball. There, I started volunteering with an athletic ministry—Athletes in Action (AIA)—which is where I met my husband, Randy.

After five years on the volleyball staff, I left coaching to pursue full-time ministry at Tulane.

This past July, Randy and I got married! Together, we share a burden for the athletes, campus staff and local New Orleanians that they may come to saving faith in the true gospel of Jesus Christ.

About My Ministry

We pray for a day when there is a Christ-follower on EVERY team in Tulane's athletic department so EVERY athlete would have a chance to hear the gospel and experience the Lord's transforming work. Our aim is to win students to Christ through the teaching of His Word, to strengthen their relationship with God through personal discipleship, and to send them out equipped to live on mission for the glory of Jesus.

The lostness on Tulane's campus (and the surrounding community of Uptown New Orleans) is overwhelming, but the mission field is so ripe. In the athletic department alone, there are students from over the WORLD! A wonderful opportunity to bring the gospel to the nations in our own backyard.

Our desire is that through this college ministry, God will lay the foundation for a future church plant in the city of New Orleans!
