AGAPE CHURCH

About the Family

I'm Satish Moses, born in South India, trained in logic as a computer engineer, and rescued by the saving grace of the Lord Jesus Christ. I once debugged software code, but now I help people untangle their lives with the gospel.

When Jesus called me to be a church planter, I traded conference calls for prayer meetings and performance reviews for Spirit-led conversations. I am passionate about building meaningful relationships and living out the gospel daily.

My wife, Salome, and I spend our days loving people, building bridges and marveling at how wildly faithful God is, especially when you say "yes."

About My Church Plant

God, in His brilliance, brought the nations to northern Virginia, and I couldn't ignore the mission field outside my front door. Our ministry focuses on reaching the international diaspora through friendship, hospitality and the gospel. We believe discipleship happens in everyday life, around dinner tables, in prayer and through intentional relationships that multiply.

Our heart is to make disciples who make disciples. Jesus is still the hope every culture is longing for, and it's a joy to share the Way, the Truth and the Life with anyone willing to listen.
